Reason you are applying for this course

At CSA, we seek mature coaching practitioners who have enough experience to be able to participate in advanced dialogue, personal reflection in solo and in group settings and who are deeply committed to continuous learning. Please describe how you fit this audience. (Note that advanced HR practitioners and OD consultants may also fit our community. If one of those is your background, please explain why you think you could contribute to the community.)

In order to fully participate, participants are asked to bring real, current client cases for exploration, and/or themes observed in their coaching practice. Please describe your current activities
